The upper third of the North America's largest island is unspoiled and largely undiscovered, yet it's just a short trip from Vancouver, Victoria, and Seattle. The area also stretches past the shores of Vancouver Island to include Broughton Archipelago, BC's largest marine park, and magnificent Knight Inlet. The natural scenery and wildlife are some of the best in all of Canada. It is truly paradise for those looking to experience the best that Canada has to offer (both on land and in the water)!
